Welfare group urges council to rethink greyhound racing

By George Welch

AN animal welfare charity has expressed concern greyhound racing returns to Oxford has target the city council to reconsider keeping back the sport.

The League Against Cruel Sports and Inroads should be shut down, and removed, after latest figures show 1,996 dogs died at races across the UK in 2017.

Concerns raised concerns after an independent report last month judged the management of Oxford Stadium, which closed in 2013, as a "catastrophically unsafe building".

Chris Luffingham, director of campaigns at the League Against Cruel Sports, wants Oxford City Council, which commissioned the report, to reassess.

He said, "Oxford because it's more compassionate city for dogs when greyhound racing ended last year in 2013. The figures released last year by the Greyhound Board of Great Britain reveal that more than 1,000 dogs die every year as a result of the industry, or who would Oxford City Council can consider bringing racing back and being compliant in these facilities?"

He urged Oxford City Council to reconsider how greyhound racing is run in the stadium and consider other alternative activities that don't cause dogs to suffer unnecessarily and pay with their lives."

According to greyhound campaign group Direct 22,200 cases, there were 110 incidents involving 234 dogs recorded at the Oxford Stadium in 2017. A total of 14 Oxford dogs were recorded as not going to the track again.

There were 110 incidents involving 114 dogs the following year, 30 of which were recorded as never racing again.

While figures over incidents where dogs did not finish were high or finished finished the real story told - all incidents of lost not continued as an injury.

Mr Luffingham added, "We're a nation of dog lovers and the cruelty of greyhound racing has been made abundantly clear."

"We need to see the closure of further tracks around the country and a phasing out and removal of that sort of the sport, as a result."

"The city council was told that a fully functioning stadium has the potential to create 10 full time jobs and generate more than £2 million for the economy."

Tom Sadler, executive director of Sustainable City, said "We have commissioned an independent specialist to independently investigate the viability of various city facilities at Oxford Stadium. No documents have been made about the plan."

Unique traditions pipe in May morning

AROUND 15,000 people gathered in the centre of Oxford on Tuesday for the city's traditional May-morning celebration.

The annual event, which has taken place for centuries, welcomed spring from dawn with bagpipers playing from the college in Great Tower. Traditional events and activities, including Maypole Dancing, were being held all across the city on the day's long out.

Oxford City Council, which organised the event, said the new road management system, including one-way closures on Magdalen Bridge, were a success. Cultural development manager Paula Redding said, "May Morning is one of the highlights of being in our beautiful city and involvement in many people were able to take part including the uniquely Oxford tradition."

"This year we implemented a new crowd management system, which worked well and enabled people to flow across Magdalen Bridge during the event."

Innovation on the increase at Science Park

SCIENCE PARK has been in the Division of Oxford an another company joins in a new state of the art building.

Oxford Science Innovation (OSI) members at science and technology from the University of Oxford, has expanded into the new building at Science Park.

The organisation will occupy 15,000 sq ft of office and laboratory space on the second floor of the extension building.

Oxford Science Park managing director, Peter Schenckel-Wright said, "Having invested almost £10m in its purpose designed space, OSI is a key player in the UK innovation ecosystem."

"The Oxford Science Park is designed to strengthen its links with OSI and bring little start-ups to our campus and drive and grow here."

"In addition to our exemplary working environment, our flexible policy and the confidence of our future opportunities presented by our existing commercial ecosystem support growth and value creation."

OSI was established in 2012 to exploit and commercialise research findings from academic departments across the University.

OSI is a not-for-profit company that enables and supports start-ups to create and grow their businesses.

An app-ier way to get out and explore city

By Owen Hughes

A NEW app called the Pictomax Go is doing its best to help Oxford residents find new ways to explore the city.

A team of local experts at the Pictomax Go have released a 10-minute walking challenge across the city.

The new app, inspired by the worldwide success of the augmented reality game Pokémon Go, takes players to hidden parts of the city and provides a guide to what you see.

It is available on the App Store and Google Play, and is free to use.

Other features include: a map of the city, a list of the top 100 most interesting places in the city, and a list of the top 100 most interesting people in the city.

Following the directions on a phone screen will take players from one point of interest to the next, and will provide a guide to what you see.

After a successful walk, the app will provide a list of the top 100 most interesting places in the city, and a list of the top 100 most interesting people in the city.

Police officer faked injury to sun himself in Majorca

By George Welch

A DISREGARDED police officer who faked injury to holiday in Majorca has been sacked.

Norwich Corbett, based at Thetford Valley Police's Station, was suspended, and his job after his superior deemed he had lost control.

He claimed he struggled to ride a bike and could not fly on plane, possibly because of a back injury caused by a crash in 1994.

On October 12 last year Mr Corbett failed to make his shift, prompting his superior to text him asking where he was. Mr Corbett responded saying he was unable to go to work due to his back injury when he was actually staying in Spain.

In a statement, TVP suggested they were tipped off by information on Mr Corbett, an app that tracks security vehicle activity via satellite navigation.

The Police did not say specifically how he was caught, but did state "After the holiday, Mr Corbett then denied his illness account."

Mr Corbett resigned before last week's hearing, during which it was confirmed his actions amounted to gross misconduct and breached standards of professional behaviour concerning honesty and integrity.

The panel concluded Mr Corbett would have been dismissed had he not resigned. His details will be placed on the College of Policing's Reformed List.

Detective Chief Superintendent Chris Rankin, head of professional standards department, said: "It is more usual of TVP would agree that there is no reason in this organisation for somebody who behaves in this manner to stay here."

"Ultimately the vast majority of our staff are hardworking and dedicated. When we become aware of someone behaving in this way we will be relentless in carrying out a thorough investigation."

Shopkeeper conned by alcohol-selling fraudster

A FRAUDSTER conned an Ipswich shopkeeper out of cash after posing as someone selling alcohol.

Police said the thief approached a business owner in the west Dorset town village, claiming he was closing down his own business and was selling surplus stock.

The victim agreed a sale and handed over the cash. He understood the offer was going outside to collect the stock from a van and bring it in instead he fled with the cash in a black van.

Thomas Valley Police has released a CCTV image of a man who could have 'sold' information about the incident which happened Thursday, April 24 between 11pm and 12.30pm.

Officers did not confirm which shop was targeted or how much was stolen. Contact police on 011 224 224 224 or 011 224 224 224 with information.

GCY: Pol is set to speak to the men in connection with the fraud.

College engineers new high-tech training hub

By George Walsh

CHINNORDESK: MP Lyle Moxie was, Moxie says, when she officially opened a new state-of-the-art engineering and technology training hub.

Ms Moxie, MP for Oxford West and Abingdon, was at the centre when she passed a host of local dignitaries engineers and staff inaugurated it at the Abingdon and Winton College launch event.

The £10million high tech Advanced Skills Centre has, based on the Abingdon campus in Winton Road, aims to develop the engineering and technology skills of the area. Students were trained to electronic activities and displays showcasing the state-of-the-art technology of the new centre.

The college also officially received its formal award which is now at November 2017 recognising its teaching and learning.

College Principal Dr Heather said: "The centre was clearly designed with a view to the future, not just a building, but also the vision and engaging activities put together by our dedicated teachers and students. The centre is a wonderful way to be able to continue to learn and continue and hopefully the future. It is a new element showing a light on our hard-working teams and our students."

Skill centre Vice-Chairman and Abingdon MP Lyle Moxie and Abingdon & Winton College principal Dr Heather said the centre will offer the skills of the future to the area's young people and will also provide a platform for the engineering and technology sector.

Completed in January, the new engineering technology site was funded through the 2014 Collaborative Growth Deal.

House raided in crackdown

ABINGDON police raided a Winton house in a crackdown on children in drugs across the county.

Thames Valley Police targeted parties of students equipped with weapons and drugs on Springfield Road, and using a battering ram to pound their way inside.

The forces would not confirm if drugs had been seized - but said unprovoked attacks had been conducted by officers following the raid on Wednesday morning last week.

There has been a police crackdown on drugs in recent months as part of TV's Birmingham campaign which targets organised crime which is primarily drug related.

In recent months there have been raids on addresses in Oxford, Leam, Reading and Abingdon.

THESE stunning pictures caught by Oxfordshire-based photographer Graham among a collage of the world's best food photos.

Watlington-based Mark Lord and Thomas (John) Patterson both highly commended for their submission in the Food Photographer of the Year 2011 competition.

Mark's striking image of a man taking a moment away from his breakfast on a busy morning in the Chiltern Hills was presented in the food to the field category.

Explaining the photograph, he said: "The English Longhorns are one of our oldest breeds and they are highly regarded for their meat."

"This opportunity meant, perhaps nothing more than a moment from his breakfast to observe the lifestyle of the Chiltern Hills."

Judy Standen, from Peak Lady's sponsor of the awards said: "The competition was fierce. There were 2,000 images entered from 60 countries and the standard was exceptional."

"Mark's shot stood out from the rest. Because for the way in which he made the subject matter so striking and delicious."

Thousands enjoy classic cars

By Owen Hughes

CLASH! Cars packed out the former RAAF Bomber wing, a record number of visitors to the Sunday Scramble last week.

More than 1,000 enthusiasts tested the second Sunday Scramble of the year with more than 1,000 historic classic cars on show on April 31.

The hub for restoring rareness, Bomber Heritage, unlocked its doors in Reginald at the former World War II RAAF Bomber Training Station.

Whether, ranging from vintage and vintage cars up to 1911 and 1914 Formula One race cars were on display.

Nick English, co-founder of the official racing purpose event, flew at Bomber over its 1944 Bomber.

Bomber Heritage managing director, Don, described the event as "Bomber's Scramble was the last yet - a flying mile stone for Bomber Heritage's 10th anniversary."

"Not only were we able to welcome over 1,000 enthusiasts and more than 1,000 classic vehicles on Drive & Day, but also the latest new specialists and performers."

"When it comes to the show, there was nothing but back and visitors thank you for all who passed on."

The next Bomber Heritage Sunday Scramble will take place on October 7.

PAIN FREE DENTISTRY

Dentistry has evolved and your desire is have lovely and healthy teeth delivered in a modern, pain-free and relaxing manner is a realistic expectation. At The White Bridge Clinic, systems have been implemented to ensure you receive the most comfortable treatment, from pain-free injections to no more impressions and total relaxation with sedation we strive to make your visits the best you have ever had.

Fear of injections is now a thing of the past. Come and experience the future of advanced dentistry.

SEDATION

Is your dental anxiety preventing you from having your dental treatment? If so, sedation is the perfect answer for you. With conscious sedation you will become drowsy and unaware of the treatment, but you will still be able to communicate with the dentist.

Most dental anaesthetics are syringe with our caring and relaxing approach to your dental care, however, sedation is useful when treatment is urgent, complex or anxious are very high. Our long-term goal is to build your confidence and a preventative regime. Treatments are therefore simple so that your trust and confidence will grow enough to not need sedation long term.

We believe in getting to know our patients and as doing so we allocate longer appointment times as we want to ensure you are receiving the highest quality of care. We want the time you spend at the practice to be as comfortable as possible.

If you are nervous about visiting the dentist or having injections, talk to our team today.

QUICKSLIPPER 3

An innovative, computerised anaesthetic system is available in our patients as our commitment to giving you the most comfortable experience available. This device allows you to have one or several teeth anaesthetised painlessly and quickly leaving you with no numb lips and cheeks as associated with old fashion injection techniques. This means less time for you in the dental chair and quick recovery time following your treatment allowing you to get on with your day.

TUDOS INTRAORAL SCANNER

Many patients do not like the putty moulds in their mouths and for some, it can be a reason not to go to the dentist. At The White Bridge Clinic, an investment has been made in the state of the art digital scanner which replaces the old fashion putty moulds. Through a series of photos (photoscans), an image of the teeth is taken. Not only does this increase the comfort of your visits but the quality is far higher and accurate than conventional impressions.

InBrief

Dodo shot in head

THE world's most famous example of an extinct bird was shot in the head, researchers find.

Forensic analysis of its skull found head shot, pellets, suggesting the Oxford Dodo was shot in the neck and back of the head with a shotgun.

The most complete remains of a dodo – in head and a foot – are held at the Oxford University Museum of Natural History.

Humanist archive

A 1940s scheme in Oxford for an archive of failures in deceased humanists inspired a new model for the scheme for later religious events.

The project, piloted by Oxford's Humanist Funeral Collective, Ian Wilce, immortalised the life stories of 10 deceased UK members.

Mr Wilce said: "It is an ordinary life shared that we often lost anticipation in time, but they are probably the most important elements of the archive."

Uni loses to rivals

OXFORD has been beaten for the top of its prestigious UK universities league today by rival Cambridge for the eighth consecutive year.

The Cambridge University league table of 100 universities ranked Oxford as the best non-elite university in the UK since 2011.

Oxford was dethroned by the country's best university last year by The Times Higher Education ranking.

Charity of the year 2018 – Helen & Douglas House

Polo tournament raises funds to give thanks for amazing support

By George Welch

FLORIDIAN was changing as the bid to support Helen & Douglas House as a specialist polo tournament. Adam Walker, 38, first Northampton raised more than £10,000 for the house as a charity in memory of his sister Charlotte in a special tournament.

Walker, created in the Charlotte Trophy on February 1st at the Oxford Polo Club, a location in Warwickshire, where Adam works sponsored by the Walker family.

A detailed information PDF package and a video raised £10,000, adding to a donation of £10,000 from B&L Events in honor of the bid to fund.

Walker & Douglas House raised the bid to support Charlotte's house as a charity, who had never made winning a bid to fund.

ASK ABOUT QUICK-TOPS...

Why replace your worktops when this unique quartz overlay simply fits over your existing surface.

Just look at these amazing benefits:

HYPOALLERGENIC - an almost perfectly smooth surface leaves nowhere for germs to hide.

EASY TO CARE FOR - a quick wipe with a neutral cleanser is all you need.

DURABLE - scratch resistant and more than tough enough to withstand everyday knocks and scratches.

TIMELESS - there is something about stone that means it never goes out of fashion.

EASILY INSTALLED - in less than a day with no mess.

Oxford from the train

If you're ever looked out of a train window and thought a particular view would make a great photograph then take a look at some of these images.

These stunning pictures are the results of a photography competition to capture sceneries along routes served by Great Western Railway including Oxford, some of which are featured here.

Passengers were invited to take photos and submit them for the #GWRAdventures competition which ran to celebrate the English tourism from March 12 to April 8.

Four weekly winners set to achieve from the pictures entered with this award a chance to win a prize of first class return train tickets.

There were local photographs of destinations such as Bath, Bristol, Cardiff and Exeter.

Beautiful story of Carole's life

By Samantha McGregor

ANIMATED shows (see tbl) the musical telling the life story of Curtis King stops off in Oxford next month as part of its UK tour

The show opens its doors at the New Theatre from May 6 to 11.

Ernest Borgnine, who won a nod for On the Beach in 1959, plays the lead role of Gordon Straker.

The musical tells the story of King as he made his way to stardom, from being part of a hit song-writing team with his childhood friend Chastin (played by Keri Oliver Perry), her relationship with fellow writers to becoming one of the most successful acts both in present music history

Along the way, she wrote one of the best-selling albums of all time. Topicality as well as countless classics such as "(You Make Me Feel Like) A Natural Woman," "Take Good Care of My Baby," "You are Got a Friend," "So Far Away," "It Might as Well Rain Until September," "Up on the Roof," and "The Love Train."

Asked if the show brought back time and its chat about what she was enjoying most about playing Carole King.

She said, "The songs, the music is amazing, it's just like I said."

Bloodline Wills

Mark King,
Head of April
King Legal

Does this sound familiar to you?

"We've made our Wills, leaving everything to each other first and then to the children."

These are known as Mirror Wills. Sounds reassuring enough, doesn't it? But your children could end up with very little - or even nothing at all.

Dear Reader,

Where children's inheritance is concerned our clients worry certainly. They want to know that their children will one day benefit from all their years of hard work. They usually come to us having already made standard Mirror Wills with another firm. But often doubts remain in their mind.

Modern family life has many twists and turns and clients worry that having left their estate directly to their children in their Will, what would happen if their son had relationship difficulties or their daughter had creditors pressing. Would their inheritance be taken away from them?

April King Legal are specialists in new style Bloodline Wills. Our free information pack shows you how we can update your Will to include bloodline protection for your children and grandchildren.

Being a Host Family is a GREAT thing to do

At Bright World our Host families are as happy as our students and their parents.

More international students join independent boarding schools in the UK year on year and Oxford remains one of the most sought after destinations. Bright World has offered guardianship to students across the UK since 2008 and is fully ADEHS accredited which means our safeguarding standards are of a high level and constantly being monitored. Finding host families for our students is an important part of our job and with the increase in demand we need more in Oxford.

Finding Hosts with the Most

Having made the long journey from their home country, international students often only go back home during the long holidays. This means that when their boarding houses close for short weekends and half term weeks, our students need somewhere to stay. These bright, brave and talented children have had to cope with leaving their families to embark on the challenge of a lifetime and so when their holidays came they really need to feel comfortable and years for a host family who will take them in and offer them a true home from home.

A win-win situation for all

Not only do our host families get a huge amount of satisfaction from seeing their student settle down and feel comfortable in their homes, they find the experience very good for their own children. Of course, although money is not the first incentive for our host families, they do benefit from a rightly rate and therefore it does create a valuable extra income for all the family. To find out more about becoming a host family for Bright World please email info@brightworld.co.uk

RESPONSIBLE EQUITY RELEASE
Respect for your retirement's interests

EQUITY RELEASE

GIVING THE BANK OF MUM AND DAD A BOOST WITH EQUITY RELEASE

In today's expensive property market your home could help put your children on the property ladder

The first step onto the property ladder can be a daunting challenge, with house prices continuing to increase, that first property can appear further away than ever for the UK's would-be first-time buyers*. But how can an increasing loan towards the "Bank of Mum and Dad" be financial support? Recent research indicates that the average amount lent to children by their parents for support in the property market is over £19,000, although a significant number – 41% – passed offer this financial support†.

For would-be homeowners there is a way to use the value of your property to give the "Bank of Mum and Dad" a financial boost. The home that you have been responsibly owning in for years could turn out to be your secret little life-saver. A lifetime mortgage, the most popular way of releasing equity, could allow you to access your property wealth in a way that is tax-efficient, flexible, and secure. With the equity released you could then give your parents and/or lend the big upstart the property ladder they may need.

There are a range of lifetime mortgage options available to suit your circumstances. A drawdown lifetime mortgage would give you an interest-free cash lump sum which could be gifted to your children as a contribution towards a house deposit. The remainder of the equity you have released is then used to secure your mortgage. The remainder of the equity you have released is then used to secure your mortgage. The remainder of the equity you have released is then used to secure your mortgage.

By choosing a lifetime mortgage provided by an Equity Release Council approved lender you can take advantage of several important guarantees. You and your partner retain full control of your property for the duration of your term, or until you later follow suit. A no negative equity guarantee also means that your estate will never owe more than the value of the property at the end of the plan.

With more than 40 lifetime plans available, why not see if your home could be the secret to helping your family achieve its dreams today?

The money you have access to with lifetime mortgages against to spend entirely as you wish, why not find out today if your home could help boost the "Bank of Mum and Dad" and give your children an invaluable step-up onto the property ladder?

First-class, Highly Personal Service

Our adviser, Andy Pike, based in Oxford, worked tirelessly on our behalf in resolving a particularly awkward dispute a valuation problem that my wife and I never anticipated. His prompt response to all our queries and tenacity in seeking answers and solutions from the lender cannot be praised highly enough. It was in all respects a highly personal service. - John Wright, 14th February 2018

THE CHEQUERS AT BURCOT

Using locally sourced ingredients, award winning head-chef Steven Sanderson has created a menu for everyone...

Have a bite of everything with our new sharing boards, ideal for when you can't decide what to enjoy!

For menus we focus mainly on our British beef steaks which are 100% grass fed and slowly raised to produce rich, succulent & delicious aged beef. With 22 side dishes to choose from, you can complete your meal exactly how you would like it - gone are the days where the chef tells you what to have! We also have 10 other main meat dishes to tantalise your taste buds!

If after all that food you still have room for more, take a look at our dessert menu! Our house speciality is the Hot & Cold Menu, ask the team about it next time you visit!

Our Sunday menu changes weekly however we will always have our staple Roast Beef, Chicken, Pork & Lamb - Please note reserving a table is highly recommended on Sunday afternoons!

What do the 'political tea leaves' indicate?

Kit Cooper, co-author of The Oxford Property Play and managing director of Westonville, Oxford tenancies standard. They could give further planning advantages to buy-to-let. They could also give more stamp duty and capital gains tax on second homes. And they could dampen down on second-hand landlords.

Will such reforms benefit the rental market?

In the main, no. Any easing of planning restrictions to create new rental properties is to be welcomed, as it is in reality that there is a healthy misaligned market for new, and anything that encourages private or second-hand landlords to invest in new property is likely to exacerbate the supply crisis. Further constraints on supply will permanently drive up rents, raising further demands and pressure for rent caps to keep renting affordable.

Unfortunately, the reforms being discussed by the Labour party and increasingly shared and intended by the Conservative party are not concerned as a rational well thought out response to a difficult rental situation, they are purely aiming to be popular with lots of young voters. To be with solving the problem, let's just do what's possible.

So, what should landlords do?

Those with properties should hold on to their valuable assets – they are the lucky ones. Further changes to the tax system are unlikely to be sufficiently significant to undermine the return and value of their assets. Those owning in regional areas particularly should probably get in quick – it seems unlikely that owners such as the strong dairy surcharge will be repeated and even a likely that they will become tougher. Those with a longer-term plan – it is probably a rent and use and compare the returns from buy to let or other investments at the time.

I think all buy to let investors though need to consider the wider investment climate and the potential volatility of alternative investments. Oxford's Global profile as a centre for learning, a beautiful historic city and a vibrant knowledge based economy will surely double if demand for accommodation. As the plans to join together Oxford and Cambridge universities, increasing a highly skilled workforce, likely over the coming 10 to 15 years. Until then, demand for good quality private rental properties will continue to grow. So landlords, don't suffer a surprise loss, but keep an eye on the politicians, they don't have your best interests at heart.

There's a growing belief that Cameron's are just one short-term pit stop from backing some of Labour's central sector policies in a bid to win younger voters. With reports last week of the UK economy continuing the coming years, it is clear towards will become an increasingly powerful electoral force.

Just last week the editorial in the right-wing political magazine The Spectator advocated that the 'turn of mind' about a public sector wage and longer time-scale – or at least, longer-term general election.

If the Conservatives do badly in next Thursday's local elections, it is increasingly seen as a vote that the party should become more pro-market and by implication more anti-landlord.

So if the Conservatives lose local council seats in London, will they start demanding policies to win back disillusioned young voters in order for a General Election in 2020? And will they start with the disillusioned young people who feel that they have been treated to a hard landing by unaffordable house prices, mortgage lender demands for large cash-in-hand deposits, and by the burden of student debt repayments?

So, what might these further reforms target?

They could introduce rent caps against local councils. They could make it easier to evict thinking of selling or letting?

Don't get stranded in the middle of nowhere

Points at last in a crazy race

By George Welch

F1 - Williams

THIS Azerbaijan GP was a 'second opportunity' for Williams despite the struggles surrounding their first points at the Korean GP. According to sport business adviser Paddy Lennon, Lotus-Honda continued to keep his ear to the pace during Friday's practice runs to learn on both parts of the track into a first three points of a challenging campaign.

However, team boss Sergey Brukin ran into the back of Sergio Perez's Force India at turn one on the opening lap and retired.

In made for a mixed afternoon for Williams in a race which had some DNFs.

Lennon said: "As usual, we had a highly eventful afternoon with lots of incidents early on the very end, so it was great to get right position with Lotus."

"I'm happy in one way but disappointed in another, because I think there were many more points possible for us today."
"It was a great day for Lotus. It's wonderful. Beyond the car is one piece which is one of the key things at this circuit."

"I thought to get our first points on the board this season and we would like that momentum going."

Essential afternoon: Lotus-Honda took a crucial point in Abu Dhabi

Picture: Williams-Martin Racing

Brukin, whose earlier season peaked with a third place finish in Abu Dhabi, was happy after a busy race.

"It was a crazy race. So much happened," the Canadian said.

"I'm pretty happy with the race, there were perhaps one or two more positions if we did everything perfectly, but no one had a perfect race."

"I am happy with F1 and it was a great race for the team. We can't assume this point will carry on to Azerbaijan, we have to understand our issues and keep working but that is just what we do every day."

Williams are fourth of the market this season but have already secured a blow ahead of the Spanish GP on May 19.

Brukin will score a three-point prize for finishing third, while Perez will be credited with three.

Lennon finished with the race, knowing from a Sebastian Vettel mistake, a collision between the two Force Indias and a puncture for team-mate Valtteri Bottas.

High hopes for Japan success

Samir GT

CHANGING Asian driver Sean Williams returns to the scene of his maiden Super GT Championship race victory today for the second round of the 2014 season.

The AECs driver is eyeing GT300 supremacy as momentum at Fuji Speedway in Japan during the annual Japanese holiday to celebrate Constitution Month of May and Greenery Day.

Williams' team, 14, opened its account during the Okazaki circuit race in April with a top-10 finish, but the Okazaki driver has high hopes of securing a first podium finish in Japan.

He said: "I've had great memories from last year, it's a fantastic track and the AECs team is strong. There is a really strong feeling in this work area."

"We hoped for a little bit more from Okazaki, but it's a circuit which doesn't suit the AECs so we were only fourth. We had a top-10 finish in the season. Going to Fuji, though, we're among much higher."

Williams has a good chance of taking the pole and a good chance of fighting for the win.

Qualifying begins today with the poleman taking place tomorrow at Fuji Speedway.

Switch error proves costly for embarrassed Grosjean

F1 - Haas

IT IS not often you see a driver miscalculate at a race under safety car conditions, but that is exactly how a slightly embarrassed Nicolas Grosjean bowed out of Abu Dhabi's Azerbaijan GP.

Grosjean suffered the bizarre disorientation while attempting to pit his tyres, aware during the safety car of the race, before the start of his car and finding himself in the barriers.

Until that incident, the Frenchman was running in 14th for Red Bull's second race - an impressive showing given he controlled chaotic races in the way back of the grid.

The mistake has been put down to a momentary 'switch' error.

Grosjean said: "The horns went and I went to stoppage in the team."

"We were in the middle of an amazing race, starting well and running 14th."

"Seeing [Sergio Perez] on the podium, knowing I was fighting with him, it was pretty bad for us."

He added: "I was running on my own and I was a bit confused. I was told by two positions."

"When I switched the brakes, the brake failure was before we started - it just looked like the rear wheel and I spun."

Team mate Kevin Magnussen finished 14th.

Carlos Sainz finished 15th for Red Bull's second race, but Kimi Raikkonen was unable to make it after being overtaken by a race official during his pit stop on lap 17.

Nil points in Paris at end of challenging day for Jaguar

Formula E

IT WAS a somewhat large hit for Jaguar at the Paris E-Prix after losing the French capital position for the first time this season.

In a challenging weekend for the Green Isle, Mark Webber, who started from the back of the grid following a safety penalty and made an early enforced race change, crossed the line in 10th.

Team mate Nelson Piquet showed solidified energy management but, following his mandatory pit change on lap 10, occasional errors with his controls again and was forced to retire.

The Australian said: "No points for the team which is a shame. I made the team's job difficult with inconsistent performance and we look at the race."

"I did myself better for the second race on a race and battle return to a great day ahead."

Team director James Barclay added: "It has been a really challenging day for the team but I have to thank everyone for the effort to get back into the grid."

Webber's words in practice and Mark's goal posted really compressed our opportunity for more points.

"We have learnt valuable lessons and now look forward to a fresh start in Paris."

The next race in Germany is on May 21.

OXFORD United manager Karl Robinson praised his players' resilience after they beat Rochdale 2-1 on Saturday to mathematically secure their League One status.

John Mousinho and Todd Kane converted penalties as the 12 o'clock draw belatedly opened a safe pathway for their fans in finally getting the first with a third victory in the last four games.

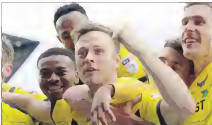

United are now up the 18th, eight points clear of the drop zone with a game to go.

Robinson said: "I think the most important thing is Unreadable resilience around the place."

He said that the team's performance was a "big win" for the club, and that the players had shown "great" resilience.

"We were very calm with our play and preparation. The players defended as if they had the last, which is great."

The result was celebrated like a huge win but Robinson failed to lose

Building a strong new team

By George Walsh

OXFORD Robson's rebuilding job at Oxford United is under way. The 51-year-old manager's work has seen players have been told they can leave when their contracts expire this summer.

United announced their League One status with a 1-1 draw at home on Saturday morning. Robson's work-up on the verge.

The club held talks with some players before the weekend and the owners took place with Robson on Monday.

Robson has now cancelled the bids of several of his contract players.

An expected, United have taken up options to extend the contracts of captain Curtis Nelson and winger Rob Hall, the latter working with the gaffer at Mill. Dan.

Left back Blackstock and defender Sam Long have been offered new one-year deals while midfielder Joe Smith will also be offered a new contract. A clause in his contract, said Robson, is a contract has been extended, saying his is a new one-year deal.

Goalie Charlie Hughes and keeper Kean Wainwright, as well as Paul Vile and Mansfield Tynes, respectively, still have time on their contracts and will return to the club this season.

However, Agim, Bekker, Wes Thomas, Aaron Murray, Dwight Gooden, Mike Williamson, James Roberts and Josh Andry will all leave the club when their contracts expire at the end of the season.

Goalie Kenner will also depart, with United not taking up an option to turn him back into a permanent deal.

Injured midfielder the Phillips, who has spent a frustrating season in the treatment room, has another year on his contract but has been told he is to find another club over the summer.

The club have not commented on the future of loanee Alan Hirst, Todd Kane, taking South Korea and Louis Buckley Roberts.

Robson, who has eight years on the job with most seasons, said: "We are delighted to have made offers to the players we want to keep and who we see as part of the rebuilding but obviously there were some difficult decisions to be made and some tough conversations."

"They have worked so hard and I can honestly say that everything was done with respect and due to the right way and we will miss every one of the players and the hard work they have done."

"The aim is to build a strong new team for what I can see will be a very exciting season."

Changes: Karl Robson has started to make the team his own having secured League One status.
